Today instructions were sent out by the mails to men who, under the process of classification, were given class 1 and whose appeals to the district board were unsuccessful. These men, put in class 1 after the recent registration, are ordered to report for physical examinations within five days. Fully 150 men are affected under the order.

May Consolidate Roads.

WINCHESTER, Va., July 25.—Officials of the operators and Ohio and the Cumberland Valley Railroads and representatives of the Federal railroad administration held a conference here yesterday for the purpose of considering the matter of consolidating the two roads and operating them as one line at Winchester. It is understood some recommendation will be made to Director-General McAdoo. It was learned that there is a probability of all the Cumberland Valley passenger trains running into Winchester over the Baltimore and Ohio tracks, making the latter's depot a union station. This city is the southern terminal of the Cumberland Valley Railroad. It is said that road may be used exclusively for freight.

Has Jailer Arrested.

WINCHESTER, Va., July 25.—Louis E. Armet, the city jailer and deputy sheriff, was placed under arrest yesterday on a warrant sworn out by Mrs. Albert L. Baker, charging him with violating a city ordinance, in that he repaired an automobile in the front of his new residence. The case was dismissed in court. The local jailer is unable to make a living as keeper of the jail, which is usually empty, and in order to provide for his family he has to do some work outside the jail posting and automobile repairing.

Physician Gets Commission.

LYNCHBURG, Va., July 25.—Dr. A. L. Wilson, a practicing physician in Lynchburg, has been commissioned a captain in the medical department of the army, and he has orders to be ready to report for duty September 1.

Add Many More Rooms.

Wheat Threshing Finished.

ARVONIA, Va., July 25.—Wheat threshing throughout this section of the James River Valley is now over. Threshermen reported good, though no extraordinary yields, with wheat generally in fine, dry condition. Farmers are preparing to seed the 12 per cent additional crop requested by the government for this fall. This will be easy, as wheat here generally follows tobacco, and there is now the largest tobacco crop planted ever known in the history of this section.

Is Offered Commission.

LYNCHBURG, Va., July 25.—Harry L. Shaver, who resigned the city engineership here a month ago to take charge of governmental instruction at Camp Ruston, near Williamsburg, has been offered a commission as captain in the engineers.

Not in Fighting Line.

BRISTOL, Va., July 25.—Company H of Bristol, which has been overseas several months, has not yet engaged in the fighting, according to a letter from a member of the company to his parents here. The company is in training in a French village back of the battle lines.

Apple Crop Promises Well.

ARVONIA, Va., July 25.—The apple crop throughout this section is much better than was expected at one time. Though on the commercial orchards the fruit is not so thick as usual, the apples appear to be larger and of an exceptionally fine quality.

Aged Resident Is Dead.

LYNCHBURG, Va., July 25.—George W. Holt, sixty-three years of age, is dead at his home near Stonewall, Appomattox County. He was a member of Bethel Methodist Church.

Murder Trial Under Way.

ALEXANDRIA, Va., July 25.—Examination of jurymen began today in the case of the State against Charles E. Gamble, soldier, arrested in Richmond several months ago for the murder of John P. Werres, Washington taxicab driver. Mrs. Catherine Burges, who, it is claimed, saw the defendant, is said to be the State's main witness.

Many Are Called to Camp.

FREDERICKSBURG, Va., July 25.—The rapidity with which young men are being called into the service is being felt very materially in this community. Since July 15 up to and including the calls for August 2 there have been called from Fredericksburg and Spotsylvania 192 men besides a number who have enlisted in various branches of the service.

Held Memorial Services.

WINCHESTER, Va., July 25.—Memorial services were held in Grace Episcopal Church at Berryville for Major Lloyd W. Williams, son of Mr. and Mrs. Godwin Williams, who was killed in action last month while commanding marines in France. He had just been cited for bravery and promoted when he was killed.

Plan to Erect Statue.

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., July 25.—An active campaign is being carried on throughout the State by the Mosby Memorial Association to raise a fund to erect an equestrian statue of Colonel John S. Mosby, the famous leader of the partisan rangers of General Lee's army, and patriotic veteran, whose sons and daughters of the Confederacy are being invited everywhere to participate. The monument is estimated to cost $20,000.

Will Join Academy Staff.

FREDERICKSBURG, Va., July 25.—Professor H. T. Louthan, who for the past four seasons has been principal of the Edmund Pendleton High School, near Dawn, Caroline County, has been elected to a position in the Staunton Military Academy.

POLLARD AFTER Y. M. C. A. RECRUITS IN PETERSBURG

Former Attorney-General of Virginia Visits City Search of Men.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
PETERSBURG, Va., July 25.—John Garland Pollard, of Richmond, former Attorney-General of the State, is visiting Petersburg in the interest of securing recruits for the Y. M. C. A. work abroad, for which there is urgent demand. He discussed plans with a number of citizens here and with directors and officials of the local association.

Serious Accident to Citizen.

R. M. Lavelle, an elderly and widely known citizen and retired merchant, met with a painful accident yesterday afternoon, and is in the Petersburg Hospital. While riding his bicycle along the road near the Pennsylvania Avenue, he fell and broke his left leg above the ankle. Mr. Lavelle is about seventy years old, and rides his bicycle a great deal for exercise. While riding slowly he attempted to stop to light a cigarette. His foot caught in the pedal and he fell.

Supposed Stolen Plunder.

Detective James M. Young yesterday arrested two negroes carrying heavily packed suit cases on suspicion that they were transporting liquor. When the cases were opened they were found to contain not liquor, but a dozen or more new suits of men's clothing and other articles, including a fine Smith & Wesson pistol. In the pocket of one of the men was found a Y. M. C. A. card of the colored men's branch of the association at the Du Pont plant, bearing the name of Joe Smith, believed to be the name of the bearer, though he gives another. This led to calling into consultation Chief Kregel, of the Hopewell police, who expressed the opinion that the clothes are part of a quantity of goods recently stolen from a store in Hopewell, and that the arrest of these men will open the way to the recovery of those who committed the robbery and the recovery of the stolen goods, amounting in value to approximately $1,000. Along this line the investigation is to be pressed. Kregel, formerly of the Richmond police, says the two negroes under arrest are known to the Richmond police.

Robbery in an Apartment House.

Some time yesterday during their absence the room in the Center Hill Apartments occupied by two young women was entered through the open front door and the room was robbed of watches, rings and other articles of value. Though there were other occupants on the same floor, and elevator men were at work just above, the thief did his work and made a getaway without being seen.

Sudden Death in a Street Car.

R. L. Petzold, a well-known young citizen, was stricken with heart attack on a Halifax Street car last night and died almost immediately. Friends caught him as he was about to fall from the car and he died in their arms. Mr. Petzold had been out calling and was returning home on the car when stricken. He was formerly a member of the police corps, but resigned recently to secure a position at the Du Pont plant. He was about twenty-eight years old, and is survived by his mother, his wife and two children.

Notes of Interest.

Congressman Hal Flood, of the Tenth District, spent a few hours in the city last evening greeting friends. At the community singing, to be held in Central Park Sunday afternoon, W. F. Ashe, of the War and Navy Camp Activities Service, will tell of his recent trip to Haiti and San Domingo to inspect government military and naval stations there. Seats are now being placed in the park for the accommodation of the public. The military police last night arrested several white women and men on the charge of violating the moral laws, and they are held for medical examination.

PATRIOTIC PENNIMAN

Great Crowd Attends Presentation of Honor Service Trophies to 1,700 Employees.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
PENNIMAN, Va., July 25.—This place was the scene of a great patriotic demonstration on Monday night, when 1,700 honor service trophies were presented by the management of the great munition plant here in recognition of the prompt, faithful and uninterrupted service of its employees. All Penniman apparently appreciates that the Y. M. C. A.'s great open-air museum can do to defeat the Kaiser is to keep the soldiers supplied with shells, and the employees here are going after the record.

The program opened with the singing of the "Star-Spangled Banner" by the soldiers present, led by their song leader. This was followed by a number of other songs. The Old South Quartet, of Richmond, added to the entertainment feature, after which the honor service trophies were explained by Secretary Ludwig, of the Y. M. C. A. After the ladies of the Y. W. C. A. had told the story of Penniman in several very catchy songs, composed by one of their members, Mr. Benesh, the superintendent, introduced Mr. Penniman, an entertaining four-minute speaker. The address of the evening was delivered by Chairman C. B. Garrett, of the State Corporation Commission. The event took place in the great open-air museum, which was crowded.

CENTRAL POWERS DIVIDED REGARDING PEACE TERMS

Various Classes in Entente Countries All Fighting For Practically Identical War Aims.

MILITARISM RULES OTHER SIDE

Opportunism Only Policy For Kaiser and His Advisers to Follow—Factions at Variance With Each Other.

By R. P. P. ROWE.

LONDON, July 25.—It is a notable fact that the peace terms proclaimed separately by Lloyd George and President Wilson are practically synonymous, and that these have been endorsed by the representative statesmen of France and Italy. The entente powers are unanimous as to their aims, and they have set them. The central powers, on the other hand, are neither unanimous amongst themselves nor have they made any statement less vague than that they would welcome peace on conditions which cannot yet be formulated.

These are undeniable facts, but the contrast between the two sets of belatedly in their attitude towards peace goes further. Within each of the entente nationalities the differences of opinion as to war aims are negligible. Manifestos representing the properties of Labor and Socialism, setting forth the terms of peace which these parties advocate, differ in no essential respect from the governmental view. Party feeling may run high on other issues, and reactions of the community may dispute as to the feasibility or otherwise of obtaining peace, but the conditions of the peace to be concluded are approximately accepted by all.

With the central powers it is very different. Austria-Hungary, torn increasingly as she is by racial dissensions, clamors loudly for peace, and in terms she would accept as far as they can be judged from the newspapers are more reasonable and more nearly practical than any which commend themselves as yet to Germany. But Austria (as is the whole alliance) is ruled by the Prussian machine gun. The voice of her democrats cries unavailingly in a wilderness of militarism. The peoples of this state of many nationalities are subject to despotic authority, and that despotic authority is completely subject to Berlin. As for Bulgaria and Turkey, they have no voice to cry with it. It is therefore to Germany—the only member of the alliance who counts—that we must turn for insight into the confused problem.

If ever there was a house divided against itself, it is Germany at the present time. This may sound an extreme statement, but it is no exaggeration. The government, which, in its heart of hearts, clearly desires negotiations and holds to the pure militaristic doctrine of might, has been forced not only to allow the Pan-Germans, the real supporters of the principles, to air their too-flagrant opinions, but to permit considerable license of expression to that larger section of the German people who hold directly opposite views. The hope of the government is apparently that by letting these two parties storm against each other, the influence of both may be counteracted and freedom may thus be obtained for opportunistic action. Quite clearly in the existing turmoil of public opinion, opportunism is the only policy practicable. This does not mean that German autocracy has lost sight of its life-long aims—aims that have hardly wavered or altered many decades—but at this crisis even the partial accomplishment of these can be approached only by cunning.

It is no matter of surprise, therefore, that official Germany formulates no definite war aims or conditions for peace. It is impossible to do so when any such formulation would throw one or other moiety of the nation into irreconcilable opposition, if not into active revolt. The Pan-Germans proclaim that they are filled "with the deepest anxiety lest the pen men ruin what the sword has won." Let it be noted, the Russian revolution might more truthfully have been substituted. They further declare that the object of the war is to gain for Germany her "necessary position of power in the world."

How can this policy be reconciled with the declaration of the majority Socialists "that a permanent peace is only possible if the democratic principle of the right of peoples to self-determination is honorably carried through?" These men, who represent "the large" if less influential, body of opinion than the Pan-Germans, are furthermore resolved to make a determined opposition to any misuse of the principle of self-determination for the purpose of self-determination. Since the central powers are approximately divided into two camps, whose respective principles are expressed with sufficient accuracy by the above formulae, it is safe to predict that for the German government the course of true love—the passion for other people's property—will not run smooth. Clearly it is a case of a house divided against itself, and until that house sets itself in order, the possibility of peace by negotiation is non-existent. One cannot come to an agreement with a man whose mind is so far from being made up that he is equally divided between two contrary aims. At the present time, nothing is more obvious than that there is no basis whatever for peace by agreement.

Fortunately, the basis for peace by victory is within measurable reach. For the only real bar to peace is the belief of a small minority that Germany can hold out indefinitely against the combined strength of half the civilized world in arms. When this illusion is rudely destroyed—an event which can be calculated with mathematical certainty—it can hardly be doubted the central alliance, if it still exists, will accept terms which are inevitable because they are reasonable. These terms have been laid down in outline by the entente powers. They involve neither annexations nor the aggrandizement of any state, and they are specifically designed to free the world from the danger to stability caused in the past by overweening national ambitions. It is not too much to hope that the house of Germany, with it the divided house of Germany, will before long set itself in order as never before. (Copyright, 1915.)

Organizing Colored Men.
George E. Haynes, director of the negro economic department of the Federal labor bureau is expected to be here to-day or to-morrow to discuss with C. R. Kelley, executive secretary of the Virginia Council of Defense, a more compact organization of the negroes of Virginia along economical and industrial lines. Local commissions, on which colored men of this State will be placed, will probably be the result of the conference.

SCHOOL FOR OFFICERS WILL HAVE NEW SITE

Nearly 3,000 Candidates for Commissions Now in Training at Camp Lee.

BOXING TOURNAMENT PROGRESS

Pedestrians Urged to Keep Off Concrete Highway—Changes in Personnel of Knights of Columbus Staff.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
CAMP LEE, Va., July 25.—In accordance with the new building program already begun at Camp Lee, preparations are on foot for the erection of a new officers' training school. The new quarters are in command of the school, recently looked over the available ground and has selected a site subject to the approval of the commanding general in a more remote spot southwest of the camp. As soon as final arrangements can be made work on the new buildings will begin. There are now 2,750 candidates for commissions in the school and the work of training is in full swing. Already preparations are being made for the next quota of men to be received in August. All soldiers at Camp Lee who desire to make application for admission to the school were required to hand in their applications by noon of today, and it is understood that a large number have applied.

Several officers have arrived at the training school to take up their duties there. Captain James T. McManey, of the quartermaster corps has been assigned to the school as chaplain. In addition to these officers an ordnance sergeant, an ordnance corporal, two first-class privates, and four privates have come as members of an ordnance corps.

FOUR BRITISH OFFICERS ARRIVE AT CAMP LEE

Four British officers have arrived in camp as part of the English mission assigned for instruction. The officers are Captain Goodday, of the Canadian army; Captain Knight and Captain Taylor, of the British army; and Lieutenant Warrell, of the Canadian army. For some time Captain McClure has been the only English officer stationed here, though several non-commissioned officers have been attached to the mission.

In the course of time quite a number ber of officers who have been on duty in the Philippine Islands will report to Camp Lee for assignment to duty as cadets. These are: Majors A. C. Corbould and F. L. Patstone, Captains C. B. Andrews, E. C. Brown, H. D. Cranston, L. R. Brown, W. Debenham, J. B. Findley, W. J. Crooks, E. J. Halsema, E. I. Jeffery, P. M. Mack, A. R. Isaac, W. C. A. Palmer, Russell, A. D. Williams, W. C. West, and A. G. Yankey; Lieutenants H. A. R. Apstin, H. W. Corp, L. T. Clark, M. C. Collins, S. W. Hulme, J. G. Morgan, C. R. R. B. Stanton, Jr., E. E. Wilmut, and J. J. Riehl.

General Heidekin and his staff were interested spectators of the last of the preliminary boxing in the camp championship boxing tournament. These bouts were particularly interesting by reason of the evenly matched fighters. In the first bout Sergeant Dickinson, of the Tenth Company, Third Battalion won in two minutes and twenty seconds. Williams of the second Company was winner of the second. In the third bout, of the Third Company, First Battalion was victor over Spybuck, formerly a student at the Carlisle Institute. The fight was a close one, Spybuck losing chiefly because of an injury to one of his thumbs. The best exhibition of the evening was the fight between Maity of the Twenty-first Company and Maity of the Thirty-eighth Company. Maity clearly outpointed his opponent and was given the decision. Barry Dugan, of Philadelphia and his sparring partner, Voll, put on an exhibition bout of three rounds. The two-round match between two colored men, Burges and Batts, both of the Forty-fifth Company, Burges was given the decision. On Monday evening, the preliminaries will be fought and some time sport expected.

Pedestrians using the concrete portions of the camp highways are seriously interfering with vehicle travel, so instructions have been given out from headquarters that the men must avoid walking there as much as possible. Troops marching for any distance along these highways will in the future march in column of two instead of fours.

Corporal Welford W. Landrum, of the Headquarters Detachment, Seventh Battalion, on Saturday, gets a five-day leave of absence. He will attend a record-breaking trip to Ashland, Va., where on Monday he will be married to Miss Grace Underwood, of Amelia, Ohio.

Catherine Vetter, supervisor of the South Atlantic Field of War Work Council, Y. W. C. A., whose duty it is to visit all the hostess houses at camp in her territory, has been a visitor at the Camp Lee hostess house. Mrs. Vetter came here from Newport News.

P. J. McCarthy, inspector of the eastern district of the Knights of Columbus, has been spending several days at camp inspecting the work of the Knights of Columbus buildings. Thomas J. Phillips, of No. 1 building of Knights of Columbus, and Robert Walsh, of Building No. 3, will leave Camp Lee shortly for overseas duty. Secretary Paul Fitzgerald, of Building No. 1, has been transferred from this camp to Camp Sherman, Ohio.

Father Dowd, lieutenant in the United States Army, has reported at camp as chaplain.
